POLITICS

Richmond Record-Herald
Richmond, California
Gentlemen.

I want to run for a county office. I am 25 years old, have had a grammar school and high school education and I have finished a course in the correspondence school in public speaking. I have taken quite an active interest in church work and fraternal organizations. My friends flatter me by telling me I have talent and especially along political lines, and should go into public life. I am personally acquainted with all the county officials, and I have been practicing each day before the mirror in smiling and shaking hands as they do. I can imitate most of them.

If possible and if you deem it wise, I wish you would write and instruct me what to do and what to expect if I should announce my candidacy. I know I should never have stage fright for I have a great deal of self-reliance and confidence in my ability.

Very truly yours,
E. F. R.

POLITICAL TALES I HAVE HEARD

It is open season now on all office holders. In an endeavor to pry them loose from their present offices tongues are wagging, public spirited and prominent men, and those that want to be public spirited and prominent, are going out of their way to shake you by the hand—you are called by your first name—told how well you look and what a fine fellow you are. They stop you on the corner and seek advice and counsel from you. You are beginning to be an important factor in the community. Feelers are put out—tales are told—propaganda is spread so that it resembles the scum on stagnant waters. Your intelligence is questioned, sometimes insulted—all eager to get an earful of political gossip. There are those whom we term the "unhappy good," who always want to change, variety being the spice of life.

But how to break into the game is most difficult. It is said that the boys now in office have a very effective way of keeping down opposition and aspirants from seeking their office by both defensive and offensive attack. As soon as one pokes his head up and opens his mouth about being a candidate for office, a delegation of influential friends, who appeared to the aspirant as being close friends, those, who, for the first time he learns are interested in his welfare, call upon him and after a few casual remarks break the news that he is foolish to run for that office. Why not run for some other, or wait until next election. After a dozen or more of these friends call upon the aspirant the poor fool begins to wonder why he ever conceived or hatched out the idea, as it is so ridiculous. He concludes that he is just plain dumb. Or sometimes the financial brains of the community in which the aspirant lives discuss the financial end of the campaign with the timid seeker.

SENATE PASSES BILL TO ADMIT U. S. VETERANS

Immigration Bars Against Men
Who Served in U. S. Army
Are Lifted by Senate

By JOHN A. KENNEDY
Staff Correspondent Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The Senate today voted to lift the immigration bars which have heretofore prevented the return to the United States of thousands of foreign born American voters who served in the United States army.

Without a dissenting vote, the Senate passed the Bacon bill and agreed to an amendment offered by Senator David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania, which will allow all honorably discharged American soldiers, their wives and children up to 18 years of age to come back to the United States as non-quota immigrants.

The measure will now be returned to the House, whose membership will be asked to concur in the Reed amendment. The Bacon bill passed the House two months ago.

As the Reed amendment is similar to the Tilson bill, already favorably reported by the House Immigration Committee, its adoption is expected. House leaders today said they expected the Bacon bill to be made law next week.

Under its terms, all foreign-born American war veterans and their dependents will be allowed twelve months in which to apply for visas. They must embark for the United States within sixteen months after the measure becomes a law.

Wives and children must follow their husbands within six months after their departure to take advantage of the provisions of the act.

President Coolidge already has announced his approval of the legislation.

The fight in behalf of these veterans has been conducted by the Hearst newspapers following a cable from the Rome correspondent of Universal Service in which it was revealed that more than 5,000 veterans of the American army, 1,000 of whom were wounded in action, were stranded in Italy because of the quota restrictions of the immigration act.

Senator Reed and Representative Royal C. Johnson, of South Dakota, were asked by the Hearst papers to introduce legislation to alleviate this condition. Representative Fish, Republican, of New York, later succeeded Representative Johnson in advocating the plan.

DEAD WOMAN IS REVIVED FOR 6 HOURS

(By Universal Service)
OAKLAND, April 22.—Mrs. Gladys McNulty, found unconscious today and pronounced dead after the most scientific tests failed to show signs of life, was revived and kept alive for six hours by the use of the inhalator and apparatus for producing artificial respiration. The use of machine and stimulants had restored heart action and respiration, but failed to bring Mrs. McNulty out of her coma. The end came late tonight when physicians were fighting to save her and she was pronounced dead for the second time.

Physicians are mystified as to the cause of her death as they can find no trace of poison or opiates.

DROWNS WHILE TRYING TO RECOVER BALL

(By Universal Service)
NEW YORK, April 22.—James B. Gleason, member of the Coast Guard, gave his life today to rescue a baseball which had been batted into the bay. He leaped into the water to recover the ball, was seized with a cramp and drowned before it was possible to rescue him.

Baseball's Lure Causes Arrest of "Radio Thief" Who Confesses Murder

Paul Hilton, 26-year old ex-convict and New York's much sought "radio thief," was arrested because he was a baseball fan. He went to New York from Providence, R. I., to witness the opening game of the big league season between the Giants and Brooklyn and was arrested at the entrance. Many radio receiving sets had been stolen by the burglar and he shot four policemen when surprised during his maraudings. One of them died. According to the police, Hilton not only admitted that he had been the radio thief but confessed that he shot the policemen. While serving one of his sentences, Hilton played third base on the prison nine.

TWENTY ARMED BEER RUNNERS ARE ARRESTED

(By Universal Service)
CHICAGO, April 22.—Twenty men, heavily armed, were captured late today when the authorities swooped down on two headquarters of alleged beer-runners.

The bag included Frank McErlane, said to be head of the "McErlane-Saltis" band of beer runners, and "Polack Joe" Saltis, McErlane's partner.

Among the eighteen other prisoners was Walter Stevens, recently paroled from the state penitentiary, while serving a sentence for murder.

The McErlane-Saltis band has been in conflict with the authorities for months. Numerous members of the band are wanted for questioning in recent homicides which are said to have resulted from warfare between rival beer runners.

The drive against the beer runners was organized and executed by Capt. John Stego, Deputy Chief of Detectives and a score of officers. None of the members of the band offered resistance. They were disarmed and hurried in patrol wagons to the detective bureau for questioning.

Too Many Cooks Spoil the Soup

MARTINEZ, April 22.—Just because Joe Martin, 40, a copper company employee here, could not move 262 gallons of wine alone, he lost the whole tank of the forbidden brew. He is now facing the uncertainty of appearing before District Attorney A. B. Tinning and explaining the why-fores.

Martin had planned to move the wine alone, but he found that it was necessary to press into service a friend to help him with his cargo. His friends duties were to watch two small kegs and keep them from toppling out of the wagon and rolling into the streets.

Along came Constable B. B. Rogers, and noting the friend's activities, investigated. Thus Martin is without his juice and is waiting to see Tinning.

CHICAGO MAYOR DEFENDS CITY BEFORE "DRYS"

Mayor Dever Calls Testimony of District Attorney Olson
"Completely False"

(By FRAGER EDWARDS)
(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, April 23.—In an indignant defense of the "fair name of Chicago" Mayor W. E. Dever, before the wet and dry committee, today branded as "completely false" the testimony of District Attorney Edwin A. Olson, who charged that the mid-western metropolis was a crime-ridden and that the police winked at violations of the prohibition law.

Mayor Dever not only denied the charges made by Olson, but declared that the Chicago Police and not the District Attorney's office were responsible for cleaning up the "frightful conditions" which threatened the very integrity of the city when he became mayor.

Moreover, the Mayor declared that he was forced to threaten Olson with laying the fact that the District Attorney's office "had not struck a lick" to enforce the dry law before President Coolidge in order to make a "welfare work" out of Olson.

To back up his assertions, Dever produced a letter from Mary (Continued on Page 8)

Doctor Suffered Most Pain in This Operation

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, April 22.—A remarkable operation, in which most of the suffering was experienced by the surgeon, saved the life of 10-months-old Albert J. Mack, Jr., at Casualty hospital here, last night.

Little Andrew swallowed an open safety pin. It lodged in his throat, point up. Strangling, he was rushed to the hospital. It was an emergency case, calling for quick action.

Bracing the bend of the pin by pressure from the outside, Dr. Joseph Larkins inserted a finger in the child's throat, located the point of the pin and rammed it so deeply into his own finger that it held fast while he withdrew it.

Antioch Bridge to Be Dedicated With Ceremony June 12

ANTIOCH, April 22.—Saturday, June 12, has been set as the date for the public dedication of the new Antioch-Sherman bridge that opened on January 1, in the bay district's "break the barrier" drive. This date has been set by the American Toll Bridge company, the East Contra Costa Chamber of Commerce, and Contra Costa officials, who are making preparations for the dedication ceremonies.

The dedication was originally planned for last November, but delay in the erection of the span made it advisable to postpone the ceremony.

HANGMAN IS CHEATED

(By Universal Service)
CHICAGO, April 22.—The hangman, who was to have claimed the lives of three men at the Cook county jail Friday morning, has been cheated—for a time at least—of his prey.

Stays of execution to allow time for an appeal to the Supreme Court have been granted to all of the men. They are Ralph Reno, Sam Washington, a negro and John Walton Winn. Winn was convicted of the slaying of Albert Nussbaum. Mrs. Nussbaum, convicted at the same trial was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Italian Debt Row Expected To End Today

Reed of Missouri Opens Question of $2,042,000,000 Debt Before U. S. Senate

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, April 22.—By tonight tomorrow the long and bitter battle over ratification of the $2,042,000,000 Italian debt agreement is expected to come to a close and the pact approved without a cloud of doubt.

The entire question was formally reopened in the Senate today by Senator Reed of Missouri. He carried out his announcement of yesterday when the settlement was ratified by a vote of 54 to 33, and moved to reconsider the action.

Administration leaders immediately sought to fix a time for a vote on Reed's motion, but the Missourian blocked the attempt. This aroused Senator Fess of Ohio, who yesterday engaged in a sharp clash with Reed. He served notice that if any attempt was made by opponents of the settlement to fill filibuster, he would move to "table" Reed's motion and cut off debate.

A "gentleman's agreement" was finally effected, under which reconsideration of the debt will begin tomorrow. Leaders are confident that the question can be disposed of before adjournment, and the ratification resolution be sent to the president for approval.

Senator Howell of Nebraska will be the first speaker. He will explain his amendment to the ratification resolution, which was defeated yesterday.

The whole purpose of the fight for reconsideration is to force adoption of the Howell amendment which would require the Italian government to issue tax free securities to the United States in exchange for the bonds now held, at any time this country should so demand.

The new bonds to be issued would be sold in the markets of the world. Under the arrangement, advocates of the amendment contend that the United States would be protected in the event Italy defaulted in her payments on the debt.

NEW LAVA FLOW CAUSES DAMAGE

(By Universal Service)
HONOLULU, T. H., April 22.—Heavy damage was being done today to ranch lands and buildings in the Honolulua district, Island of Hawaii, by a new lava flow from Mauna Loa.

According to reports received here the McWayne suffered heavily. Several ranch houses, several cattle pens and tanks having been engulfed by the fiery flow.

It was also reported but not confirmed that several hundred head of cattle on the McWayne ranch had been trapped by the lava.

A sharp earthquake was felt throughout Hawaii Island this morning. It caused no damage.

Bandits Attempt Narcotic Raid On Hospital

(By Universal Service)
OAKLAND, Calif., April 22.—Haunts of narcotic addicts in Oakland are being searched tonight for two men who made a daring and spectacular raid upon Providence hospital here early today in what police believe was a seasonally planned effort to obtain the hospital's supply of narcotics.

Miss Helen Glock, pretty 20 years old nurse, was bound, gagged and blindfolded by the two bandits when she encountered them in the diet kitchen of the hospital. Before she was struck down she screamed. Miss Ida Quill, another nurse, heard her scream and came to her aid. The bandits fled after an unsuccessful effort to find Miss Glock's keys.

The attack and escape of the thugs from the third story of the hospital created a panic for a time among patients.

HUGHES URGES CURTAILMENT OF NAVIES

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, April 22.—America should again lead the world powers to bring about a still further limitation of naval armaments, Charles Evans Hughes, former secretary of state, told the American society of International Law in a speech here tonight.

He is hopeful that such a step can be taken next year, in spite of the gigantic obstacles now facing the proposed Geneva conference to reduce the mighty armies of the nations.

Pointing to the Locarno Pact, the World Court and the League of Nations as "instruments to outlaw war," Hughes warned they will fail of their purpose unless intrigues and jealousies are supplanted by a sincere desire for world peace.

"Peace cannot be established by force, if those who are to supply the forces fall out among themselves," Hughes declared, adding (Continued on Page 8)

INVESTIGATION OF TRAGEDY IN MINE LOOMS

INVESTIGATION OF PE M...
QUINCY, Calif., April 22.—Decision as to whether an official probe should be ordered into the cause of the cave-in in Grizzly Creek tunnel of the Feather river Power Company near Quincy, early Sunday morning, resulting in the death of five workmen, will be decided tomorrow by the state industrial accident commission.

G. Chester Brown, mining engineer for the commission who has been at the scene of the tragedy since Sunday, will return to San Francisco tomorrow morning to file his report. Brown refused to comment on his report, the secretary of the accident commission said that an official probe of the tragedy would depend entirely on the contents of Brown's report.

Thomas McDermott, only survivor of the crew of six men who went into the tunnel on Saturday night, was reported to be regaining his health today. When taken from the tunnel after being held prisoner by an avalanche of rock and dirt, after sixty seven hours, McDermott was suffering from congested lungs.

A strict censorship was thrown over the tunnel property today when officials ordered newspapermen and photographers to leave, they were told that any further announcement would be made at the company's office here which is twenty seven miles from the scene of the tragedy.

French Plan To Fund Debt To Be Studied

Mellon to Give American Debt Group Plan to Fund Four Billion Dollar Debt

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, April 22.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon will lay before the American Debt Commission tomorrow France's proposal for funding its $4,000,000,000 obligation owed the United States as the result of the World War.

Henry Berenger French Ambassador at Washington, is expected to meet with the commission in support of his government's proposals. These proposals, it is understood, are in substance as follows:

First—Payment to the United States of an average of $100,000,000 for 62 years, an aggregate of about $6,200,000,000.

Second—Elimination of the "Safeguard Clause" in the original Callaux offer which permitted the debt settlement to be reopened whenever France's finances got into bad shape.

Third—The substitution of a provision like the Italian settlement that payments may lapse for two years if France is unable to pay.

Fourth—A partial moratorium during the first years, with deferred payments to be made good in increased annuities in later years.

Despite the Senate's delay in finally approving the Italian agreement and other pending proposals, Secretary Mellon hopes to have the French settlement signed and submitted before congress adjourns.

The Berenger proposals represent the result of months of informal negotiation between Mellon and the French Ambassador while no formal meeting of the American commission has been held during this time, the members have been kept in close touch throughout.

M. Berenger, seeking a basis for discussion, reached a tentative understanding with Mellon, and then submitted it to the French cabinet for approval. This approval was granted a few days ago, with the result that the Ambassador is ready to proceed.

Caroline A. Green Dies at Home of Son in This City

Caroline A. Green, 73, died at the home of her son, C. A. Green, 460 Seventh street last night.

Mrs. Green was a native of England and a resident of this city for the past five years.

She is survived by her husband, J. B. Green; a son William R. Green, Kansas City; a son, C. A. Green of this city; a daughter, Mrs. Homer Buttreck of Denver.

Funeral arrangements, in the hands of Wilson and Kratzer, are pending.

Charges Are Filed Against Lawrence Silva at Special Session of San Pablo Board

Charges against Lawrence Silva, clerk of the San Pablo school board were preferred last night at a special meeting called by the board to investigate complaints concerning the circulation of members of the faculty while electioneering for a candidate.

The charges which were compiled in a complaint presented by J. J. Ross as a taxpayer are as follows:

1. That he negligently and unlawfully failed to post the quarterly reports on the bulletin board in purchasing supplies.

2. That he ignored the school board in purchasing supplies.

3. That he carried reports said to have been made by a teacher to a non-resident school authority in order to create antagonism against her and thereby destroy her future prospects for employment.

4. That he said he would do everything in his power to see that a candidate was elected because he could control that candidate on the board.

5. That he threatened to dismiss some of the most efficient teachers in the school.

6. That he interfered with work in the class room, and set a bad example to the pupils by entering the room smoking and continuing to keep his hat on

Senators Paid For Making Dry

Charges

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, April 22.—Congressional investigation of admissions by Representatives William D. Upshaw, democrat of Georgia and other dry members received fees from the Anti-Saloon League for making prohibition speeches demanded today by Representative Fred A. Britten, republican, of Illinois.

"As soon as the House Committee of Alcoholic liquor traffic begins its survey of prohibition results I shall ask that the Anti-Saloon League be investigated to determine which members of the House are on its payroll," declared Britten in a statement to Universal Service.

"It has been generally believed that certain ardent dries have been receiving fees from the League for supporting prohibition but now that admissions have been made by some of them I believe Congress should look into it."

"It is as reprehensible for members of the House to receive funds from the Anti-Saloon League to make speeches throughout the country as it would be for members to receive money from railroads or others interested in legislation pending in Congress."

Britten has filed resolutions calling for an investigation of the Anti-Saloon League affairs and also of the association against the prohibition amendment.

Bandits Get Watch and $26

Claiming that he had been robbed, C. W. Sterlington, 523 East Fourteenth street, Oakland reported to the Richmond police that he had been held up at the corner of thirtieth street and Cutting boulevard last night. Sterlington alighted from a street car at Pullman avenue and at Cutting boulevard was ordered by the bandit at the point of a gun to hold up his hands. He claims to have been robbed of twenty-six dollars and a gold watch.

The bandit is described as being about five feet ten inches in height of heavy build and about thirty-five years of age. The robber is said to have been on foot.

while talking to the teachers of the classroom.

7. That he circulated remarks concerning the complaints of members of the faculty while electioneering for a candidate.

8. That he discriminated against sex on the school board.

The school house was packed to capacity for the hearing of the complaints presented by Ross, so that the charges could be investigated by the board and if found to be true asking for the removal of the clerk.

Many of the persons alleged to have made the remarks were not present at the meeting and the board will endeavor to interview them before action is taken.

Chief among the witnesses, who substantiated the complaints were Mrs. Harriet Jacks and Mrs. Emma Sieman. Both testified as to Silva's smoking cigarettes in the class rooms and interfering with instruction by interrupting. Other teachers denied the charges and said that he interfered no more than other parents who visited the class rooms from time to time. Silva denied most of the charges (Continued on Page 6)

A BUSINESS NATION

It has long been the fashion for certain writers and speakers to criticize the American people for their commercialism—their desire to make money.

While it is true that the mere making of money is not a very high ambition, it must be remembered that it is through our genius for business that we have been able to provide the funds for innumerable things worth while such as are not enjoyed by any other nation in the same degree.

Great sums devoted to educational, religious, charitable and artistic purposes have been made possible through successful business pursuits. Scientific research, the advancement of health measures, better homes, and the comforts and refinements of civilization generally have been due to the ability of our people to acquire money and their willingness to spend it for these things.

Most of the high-brow critics of business obtained their education at colleges and universities endowed and made possible by business men. Business and money-making are not the end of our national ambition, but the means whereby civilization may be promoted and preserved.

GOOD HABITS IN READING

With the libraries and bookstores full of good, entertaining, inspirational, character-building literature, it is surprising that parents allow their children—when they read at all—to waste their time reading things that not only have no meaning, no moral, no uplift, but are often just the reverse.

There is no habit so pleasurable and profitable as that of reading, and the habit of reading good things is as easily acquired as the habit of reading trash. Parents and teachers have no greater or graver responsibility than to encourage children to read and to form good reading habits. Parents would be horrified to see their children sitting down to a meal of garbage, yet they think nothing of it when the young people buy those magazines which are frankly risqué. And the harm is not so much in what they learn from these stories and jokes as in the certainty that they will lose a taste for literature that is good and elevating.

ADULT CONTROL

A teacher, trying to justify young people today, said that "high school students resent adult control. As if this were something new under the sun! Some of us have vivid recollections of the result of such resentment on our part.

The trouble today is not that young folks resent adult control, but that adults do not exercise control. Every human being has to bow to some authority sooner or later, and the child who is allowed to go uncontrolled because he resents authority is the one who breaks the laws of the land in after life. Respect for authority must be learned some time, and the home and the school are the best places to teach it.

SPEAKING OF THE BUSINESS SENSE

Recently as a guide was conducting a group of American tourists through the ruins of Pompeii, an elderly business man asked when the town had been destroyed. He was told that the calamity had befallen it in 79.

"In 79?" he repeated. "Now that's very queer. I was born in '62, so I was 17 in '79, and I was reading the papers regularly. Somehow I don't seem

DESPAIR TURNS TO HOPE

Washington, forced to abandon New York, retreated up the east side of the Hudson river. Captain Nathaniel Hale of Connecticut, who volunteered to discover the English plans, was arrested and hanged as a spy. On the gallows he said: "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country."

Washington ordered West Point, strongest place on the Hudson, to be fortified, but a deserter carried his plans to the British commander. He knew now, of course, just where to strike, and took the fort with three thousand prisoners. Fort Lee, just opposite Fort Washington, could not be held and Washington with his small remaining force began to retreat across New Jersey. He broke down bridges after he had crossed the river and destroyed the provisions the British hoped to get for their army and so delayed the enemy that it took them nearly three weeks to march less than seventy miles across a level country.

There seemed to be little to hope for from a fugitive army of three thousand men, half-fed, armed miserably, scantily clothed and not paid. But Washington was their leader; and he was the heart, strength, and soul of the Revolution.

Washington crossed the Delaware at Trenton, but as he had seized every boat for a hundred miles along the river, the British could not follow. On Christmas night, 1776, Washington with a force of less than twenty-five hundred men, recrossed the Delaware, dangerously full of floating ice, and marched on Trenton in a furious snow-storm. There he took a thousand prisoners and a large quantity of arms and ammunition. Washington lost scarcely a man. It was not only a bold stroke; it was a great victory. Hearts leaped with joy. It was a Christmas long remembered.

LESSON IN HOME DRESSMAKING

Advance Fall Model in Black Crepe Satin, with the Circular Fullness Introduced at the Sides

AFTER the high favor that colors have enjoyed, Fashion is returning to black and a new shade of blue called blue-jay, for frocks for early Fall. A pretty version of the side flare is pictured in this model, which requires 4 1/4 yards of 40-inch or 3 3/4 yards of 54-inch material to make. The design is so smart and becoming that there is no doubt of its being copied in the twills and smart wools for Autumn.

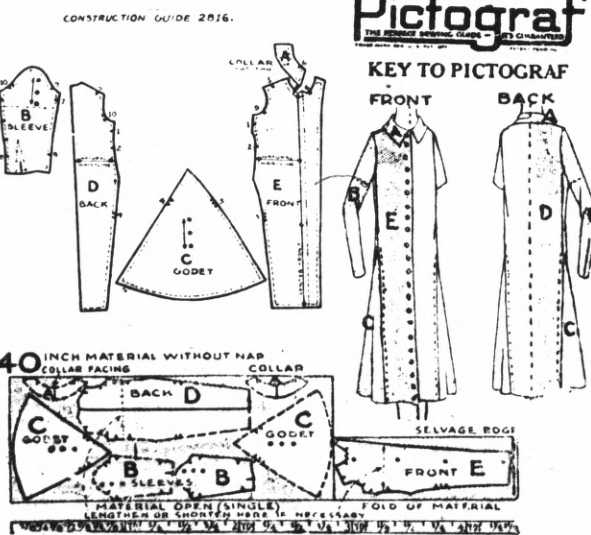

One-piece Dress with Side Flare.

The fronts are dart-fitted at the underarm seams, turned to form underfacings, and closed to the neck with the collar. The godets are inserted in the underarm seams below the waistline. Long one-piece sleeves, dart-fitted at the wrists, may or may not be trimmed with buttons to correspond with the front of the dress.

The front is cut on a lengthwise fold of material, but the satin is laid open in single width to cut the back and the godets, as shown in the cutting guide. There also will be sufficient material to cut the sleeves on the single open width of the satin. Mark all of the darts and perforations carefully.

Now, close the underarm seam of the dress above the medium perforation in back (D). Sew front edge of godet C to front E, with lower edges even, matching double notches. Close the shoulder seam, then face collar and sew to neck, with center-backs even. Lap the right front of the dress over the left, matching lines of large perforations, and finish for closing.

Next, close seam of sleeve and sew in armhole. Place the small perforation in the sleeve at the shoulder seam when sewing it in the armhole, and hold sleeve toward you. Trim with buttons.

Why Girls Go Back Home

CATHARINE BRODY

Copyright 1926 by Warner Bros. Pictures Inc.
"Why Girls Go Back Home" with Patsy Ruth Miller is a Warner production from this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Marie Downey, of Winesville, as innocent as pretty, thinks that because Clifford Dudley, a matinee idol, kisses her, they have thus become engaged; and naively follows him to New York. Clifford wants to get rid of her without hurtful publicity, but Marie, defending his reputation, informs chorus mates she is his fiancée. This leaks to the papers. Clifford ruthlessly "frames" Marie in a compromising situation. Marie is heartbroken when this counter story "breaks," but Sally, her chum, says it will "make" her. Winesville reads the scandal.

Such an extra edition was so unusual a circumstance for Winesville (indeed, it never happened except on days when war or peace was declared or when the results of gubernatorial or presidential elections were known) that the town could not but be appalled that something of great importance had occurred.

Business suffered that day in Winesville. So did Marie's reputation, which was gone over with a fine tooth comb from the days when she had winked at other babies from her carriage.

It was decided that, item, Marie Downey had never been much good; that, item, Joseph Downey had spoiled her; that, item, John Ross was well rid of her and in addition that Marie wouldn't dare to come back. But if she did—if she dared—well—just let her! The town chortled and re-read a glaring editorial about the corruption of the name of Winesville's fair neat, narrow handwriting. With the letter in his pocket he sat for a long while upstairs nervously waiting to go about his business as usual, to put up a front, as Sally would have said.

Nor was the paper without its effect on a certain other household in Winesville where the Rosses—father, mother and only son—were about to gather for dinner. John was late. He had secluded himself in the back part of the store for a few minutes of disturbing contemplation of the paper. He read it over and over again. But every time he read the story it made less sense to him.

Why, he had walked with Marie to Sunday School only ten years ago. He had carried her books to high school—only two years ago. And it was only two months ago that he had bounded into the hotel, as by right and with the smiling approval of Mr. Downey, yanked up the back stairs to tell Marie that they would be late for the show if she didn't hurry. She had hurried, all right, carrying on a conversation with a sweet-looking young man who brushed his brown waves away from her forehead, just exactly the way her dimple unexpectedly pierced one plump cheek. They had a standing joke about that dimple. John had stoken its mate for he had one in the opposite cheek. It rarely showed now. Nothing to show it for.

He knew her so well. She had told him everything, she thought—or nearly everything. Clear, simple thoughts. He knew all her plans. Clear, simple plans. How could anyone change sufficiently in two months to become a creature whom the old Marie would never so much as have mentioned, whom she would not have cared to "have anything to do with," a girl who lived in these evidently strange and sinister apartments and who received men in negligees?

"There must be some mistake," he groaned.

He took out a creased letter from his pocket. He knew it by heart now, but he looked at it anyway to refresh his memory of the Marie who could write as simply and sincerely, if, to him, as coldly, as that: "Dear John:

"Please don't be angry because I left without saying goodbye. I am sorry you were mad at me and sorry I was mean to you. I cannot help it if I love Clifford Dudley, and I only hope some day you will find someone to love as much. I wanted to see you and tell you about it, but I couldn't manage. Write me that you forgive me.

"As ever, your friend,
"MARIE."

"I have to see her," cried John aloud. "I won't believe anything until I see her."

Not for nothing did John have a determined jaw and strong, clear blue eyes. But he bethought himself of his father and mother, who would have to be told if he went to New York. He walked slowly up town.

His father and mother meanwhile were horrified examining the paper which Mr. Ross had brought home for his wife's perusal. Mrs. Ross knew all the details anyhow, because a dozen women friends had already informed her over the telephone. But she went over them again. They said, "I told you so," to each other, though they had both been heartily in favor of Marie.

"That I had her in my house at my table," she cast a glance of horror at the table, expecting somehow to see it covered with gore.

"Is that John downstairs? Here, Grace, sit on the paper," said Mr. Ross quickly.

Mrs. Ross did so. When John came up, they were calmly dipping spoons into soup. Noticing John's pallor, however, his mother could not restrain a "Tech. Tech." of pity and anger for the anguish of her child.

Mr. Ross gave her a restraining glance.

The Ross family ate in silence. John was finding it very hard to begin thus with no dessert. It was not until the dessert that, catching his throat, he launched a thunderbolt on his family.

"Dad, I want to go to New York."

Both the Rosses started. Mrs. Ross's eyes filled with preparatory tears.

"What's that? What's that?" exclaimed Mr. Ross.

"I want to go to New York," repeated John defiantly. It was not necessary to say more. They understood.

Mr. Ross rose in anger, threw his napkin on his half-finished rice pudding, which he didn't like anyway, and answered his son:

"If you go to New York, don't come back."

"John!" cried Mrs. Ross to her husband and son.

"Just the same," repeated John, "I'm going to New York. I'm sorry."

Twenty-fifth Annual Convention Of Federation Of Women's Clubs Opens In Crockett With Reports

The twenty-fifth annual convention of the Alameda District California Federation of Women's Clubs, with some of the most prominent women in the state present, opened at Crockett yesterday morning.

Mrs. Otto J. Mouron, of Sonoma, presided over the sessions of the 300 women who have gathered at the convention.

The convention opened with the singing of "America" and it was followed with a reading "Meditation" and "Salute to the Flag" by Mrs. Edwin P. James, state chairman of citizenship.

Mrs. D. P. Edwards, retiring president of the Carquinez women's club welcomed the delegates to Crockett and Mrs. E. R. Warner, of Oakland made the response.

The major part of the morning was devoted to the reading of the report. Mrs. S. S. Ripley, of Richmond, who is recording secretary, was one of the delegates who gave a report.

In the afternoon the delegates were the guests of the Marine Navigation company at a tea on the liner Maut.

The "President's dinner" was given at 6 o'clock last night and it was followed by a glee club chorus of 300 voices at the Community Auditorium.

Broadcasting Stations You Have Heard—WSAI

Station WSAI of the United States Playing Card Company at Cincinnati, is among the outstanding broadcasting stations of the country. It is up with the leaders in power, for it has a 5000 watt Western Electric equipment. And it is among the leaders in quality of entertainment, for it is teaching the nation to play bridge by radio.

In conjunction with other stations, bridge games in which experts take part are regularly broadcast.

The plan is to have four experts play a deal of Auction Bridge and to broadcast each bid and each play of the deal, together with the reasons for each bid and each play. Prior to each broadcasting, listeners-in are informed as to the names of the participants so that on the night of the game any four may play the deal, and each player be named after one of the four experts and take the same relative position at the table as that occupied by his expert namesake. The result of the draw for partners and deal is announced, and then the cards dealt to each expert. The bidding then follows, after which each play is announced so that the players can play the same cards that the experts play.

The bell tower of the plan in which

WSAI has its home shelters the famous radio chime—the only chime of bells in the United States made for broadcasting and operated for that purpose. There are twelve bells in the group. An idea of the size of the chimes—which are graduated from small to large—may be had from the fact that their total weight exceeds 20,000 pounds.

Aubrey Wilson. Named to State Board of Christian Churches From the East Bay District

Aubrey Wilson was elected to represent the East Bay Christian churches on the state board of Christian churches, at the convention of thirteen East Bay Christian churches held yesterday at the First Christian church of Richmond.

The sessions started in the afternoon and ended late last night. The speakers on the program included Wayne Neale, state superintendent of Christian Endeavor; Edgar Lloyd, state superintendent of Sunday schools; Arthur Braden of the California Christian college; and Dr. M. J. Smith, state superintendent of missions.

Robert L. McHatten, of Oakland, was chairman of the day.

This convention was one of the most successful ones that Christian churches of the East Bay region have ever held.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT WESLEY M. E.

With the Wesley Foundation of the universities of California and Stanford as the theme, special services will be conducted in the Wesley M. E. church Sunday morning. This church has been assigned a quota of $1000 toward the $225,000 campaign now being conducted throughout northern and central California.

An outline of the work of spiritual and welfare work such as the foundation will undertake at the two universities will be discussed by F. L. Hain, Oakland attorney, who will be the principal speaker at the services. Tsar Calfee is chairman of the campaign which will be conducted in the Wesley church here.

ROTARY TO HONOR BOYS

Larry Moore, of Oakland, will be the principal speaker at the annual boys week celebration of the Richmond Rotary club today. Charles Renwick will be chairman of the day.

Dr. U. S. Abbott, newly-elected president of the club, and the other directors recently elected will be installed as officers for the coming year at the meeting on April 30. Walter T. Helms and Charles Renwick have been elected secretary and treasurer respectively of the Rotarians for the coming year.

On May 9, a district initiation will be held in San Leandro and the Richmond Y. M. I. will send candidates and will enter in the parade at that event.

All members of the Y. M. I. are requested to be present in Pittsburgh on the night of May 16, when a new institute of the Y. M. I. and Y. L. I. will be started there. At this time, councils from the bay regions will be in attendance.

Joseph Silvia had charge of the sessions last night.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY TO HOLD GUEST DAY

The Macdonald Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church will hold guest day at the next sessions of the club, according to plans made when the society held its meeting yesterday at the church. At these sessions all members will be asked to bring a friend. Mrs. William Patterson will have charge of the program on that day.

Mrs. Jennie Conwell was in charge of the program that was presented yesterday. The topic of the program was the "American and African Negro".

Mrs. Earle Haney read a paper upon the Negro in Africa and Mrs. Ray Jones gave a recitation upon the negro.

Mrs. John Holmes told of three negro boys and their rise to success; Mrs. H. C. Bowman, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Conwell sang several negro hymns.

Sylvia Glineburg, a pupil of Mrs. J. T. Conwell recited a series of negro poems.

The devotional service was led by Mrs. Henry Engleking and she was assisted by Mrs. William Fowler, Mrs. William Norton and Mrs. Dan McLaughlin.

Mrs. Carl Alexander, who had charge of the business meeting, was hostess of the day and Mrs. Engleking assisted her.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting. The table was beautifully decorated with garlands of roses.

Registration of Securities is Progressing Here

More than one million dollars worth of bonds, stocks and securities have been listed with county assessor George O. Meese at Martinez as the result of the new state law requiring assessment of foreign securities. Meese estimates that the total assessments for such property in Contra Costa County alone might reach, if not exceed $2,500,000.

Meese declared that the voluntary response of the owners of these securities has been excellent and that no attempts have been made to conceal the ownership of such bonds and stocks.

California Veterans Will Sail For France From Port of New York

ABOVE: Parlez-vous Français? Those of the 30,000 Legionnaires who sail for the 1927 Paris Convention on the De Grasse type of French Line ship will be in France when they cross the gang plank.

BELOW: "You can go there, Soldier." In 1917 every gob and his brother cried "You can't stand there Soldier"—but it won't be that way on this promenade deck when the Legion shoves off for Paris in 1927.

'TUMBLEWEED' STARS HART AT THE CALIFORNIA

A cast selected with especial reference to the fitness of each individual member to the role assigned, was chosen to interpret William S. Hart's first production for United Artists Corporation—"Tumbleweeds"—a powerful story of western drama coming today to the California theatre.

Barbara Bedford is leading woman, playing Molly Lassiter, a beautiful and resourceful girl of the midwest; Miss Bedford is recognized as a very excellent actress and is possessed of unusual charm and ability to project her vivid personality across the silver sheet.

Lucien Littlefield, one of the foremost character actors and an expert at make-up, was selected for the semi-comedy role of "Kinky" Rose—a quaint frontier type, a cowboy who believes himself a sort of range shiek, but who has a heart of gold.

J. Gordon Russell plays Noll, one of the two heavies. Russell has appeared in several Hart pictures in the past and is a big man with much dramatic insight.

Richard R. Neill, as Fred, is the other villain. He is also well-known on the screen but has worked mostly in the East. He played a part in Hart's "Wild Bill Hickok," however.

Jack Murphy, a clever youngster, will be seen as Bart Lassiter. Lillian Leighton has a highly humorous role as Mrs. Riley, one of the homesteaders, while Gertrude Clark plays a sympathetic role. Capt. T. E. Duncan is a cavalry major. Several other well-known players will be added for smaller roles as the need arises. Great crowds of extra people were employed in the great land rush at the organ.

Hubby Called a "Bootlegger" So Wife Asks Divorce

Prohibition has finally made its way into even the divorce courts of Contra Costa county. County courts will be called upon within a short time to ascertain if a wife may call it cruelty when she claims that the anti-Volstead activities of her husband have earned him the title of "bootlegger."

In a divorce complaint filed yesterday by Ruth Wilson of this city through her attorney, Clare D. Horner, she insists that the "wet" activities of her husband, Guy Wilson, have been so pronounced that he is at present in the county jail serving a term for bootlegging.

PIRATE COMEDY ATTRACTION AT THE RICHMOND

"Fifteen men on a dead man's chest."

The once popular ditty will be revived at the Richmond theatre today and tomorrow when as fierce a band of cut-throats as ever prowled the seas appears on the screen there.

They are the pirates of the Sam E. Rork-First National comedy, "Clothes Make the Pirate," in which Leon Errol is starred with Dorothy Gish. Errol is the pirate leader, and among his precious rogues are Tully Marshall, James Henne, George Marion and Walter Law. In one of the thrilling scenes the buccaners attack a British man o'war and after a furious battle between the two sailing ships, Dorothy Gish, Nita Naldi and Edna Murphy are carried off by the victorious pirates.

Masts, sails and deck housing are shot away as the two fighting craft fire and ram each other, until the pirate crew manages to board and scuttle the war vessel.

"Clothes Make the Pirate" is from the Holman Day novel, Maurice Tourneur directed.

Other features on the same program include "Lovemania," an Al St. John comedy; "Felix Laughs It Off," a Felix the cat cartoon.

CALIFORNIA VETERANS TO VISIT PARIS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—Veterans and their American auxiliary wives, daughters, sisters and mothers from California, will sail to France to attend the American Legion convention there in 1927, on the port of New York, on a steamer of the French line. This information has been announced by Frank J. Hatfield, of San Francisco, member of the France convention committee of the Legion, following the receipt of embarkation details for the convention from Bowman Elder of Indianapolis, Ind., National chairman of the committee.

Though the ship on which the California delegation will embark has not yet been definitely announced the French Line will be responsible for the embarkation of state delegations from Texas, Delaware, Indiana, Louisiana, Arizona, Maryland, New Jersey, Florida and New Mexico in addition to California, operating out of three of the seven officially designated ports.

Recent indications are, according to Elder, that at least 30,000 veterans and Legion auxiliary members will make the pilgrimage to France with the Legion, the greatest peace time migration in the history of the world. Part of the program in Paris will be the celebration of the tenth anniversary of the entry of the United States into the World War. The veterans will also have an opportunity to visit battlefields of the war and at the American cemeteries will pay homage to the thousands of their former comrades who now lie buried in the soil of France.

In addition to the wide popular interest aroused by the announcement of the convention, the plans of the Legion have been officially endorsed by President Coolidge and a cordial invitation from the Government of France has been received. Details of the vast project for embarking and the housing and transporting aboard of this great army of veterans are being rapidly perfected by the France Travel Convention committee of the Legion.

In order to place the trip within the reach of almost every veteran, extremely low rates are to be provided. The minimum rate, which will include transportation both ways on the Atlantic, hotel in Paris and transportation in France, including a trip to an American battlefield and an American cemetery, will be about $175. Other rates providing better grades of accommodation will range to $450 for the maximum. It is estimated that the entire trip, including all reasonable expenses can be made for as little as $300.

In order to make it possible for the rank and file of veterans to save their money for the trip, the France convention committee is sponsoring the organization of American Legion saving clubs through banks in all parts of the country. A number of local clubs have been organized in cooperation with Legion posts through authorization obtained from John J. Wicker, Jr., of Richmond, Va., National travel director for the France Convention Travel Committee.

The Legion is also backing a national movement to grant ex-service men sufficient vacation time in 1927 to make the trip. It is estimated that it will require at least four weeks to go and return from France. Congress has taken the lead in this movement by the introduction of a bill which would give all ex-service employees of the government extended vacation periods in 1927. Employers associations in all parts of the country are also endorsing the plan.

The return to France in 1927

Don't Like Homesteaders

William S. Hart who has the greatest role of his career in "Tumbleweeds" which comes to the screen of the California Theatre for two days starting today.

is in no sense to be compared with the troubled days of crowded transports in 1917, according to Elder. It will contrast in almost every conceivable way with the migration of the A. E. F. being smothered in the packed, evil smelling transports zig-zagging across submarine infested seas; where reveille in the early dawn broke the troubled sleep of the doughboys; where meals were served in the form of slum and Willie in mess kits; where the only bunks were tiered by the hundreds in dark, musty holds; there will be a fleet of luxurious liners, providing all the comforts and pleasures of tourist travel; elegantly appointed salons; dining rooms where tables are set with white linen and polished silver; airy, comfortable staterooms; wide white decks; a host of stewards and attendants to minister to the wants of the returning veterans.

According to Elder a completely democratic procedure will be followed aboard the ships that convey the Legionnaires to France. There will be no discrimination based on class of accommodation used. The veteran who holds the lowest price berth will have the same rights in the public rooms of the ship and on deck as the doughboy who occupies the de luxe suite.

Straw Hat Parade With Special Features Proves Big Drawing Card On Opening of Season

By HAY BONNET

Able demonstration given of the "power of the press" by the local straw hat vendors have been rushed off their feet by the throng called down town by the much heralded celebration yesterday morning.

Order was preserved through the combined efforts of Chief Cox and Captain Shirley. Close on the heels of the fire department came the float bearing KING STRAW in charge of Knight Fitzpatrick who was royally attired in a costume designed by Artist Smith of 1011 Macdonald. Fitz was given a glad hand along the line in answer to the good straw line he handed out and he certainly earned the lunch suggested. He graciously acknowledged the reception with bows and smiles and the people along the line were almost overcome with wonder at the bargain hat produced in Richmond for a 4c Penny.

Many comments were heard regarding the fine display of automobiles handled in Richmond and it was almost a draw between the car owners in their summer straws and the fine cars they rode in.

While it was considered a men's parade the ladies were not entirely overlooked, for space was made in the Nash and Jewett cars for two models wearing FASHION-able Richmond creations. Last in line was the Arrow Parcel Delivery rushing a straw to a late customer.

A splendid spirit of cooperation was shown by the merchants who do not sell straws for they urged their customers to BUY YOUR STRAW HAT IN RICHMOND and the straw hat men won't forget them for "every dog has his day" and the druggist, baker, hardware and all the other good merchants will have a turn in the time-light.

Wonderful turn out at Point Richmond, headed by "Mayor" Esola Pullman, company, High School and the "heart of the city"—23 street—from Big Bill Hays. Every type of straw was on exhibition for the tall or short, lean or fat.

One of the attractions of the day was a straw hat frozen in a block of ice which was exhibited in front of the Meltsaken store at Tenth and Macdonald avenue. The hat had been placed had been frozen in the block of ice by W. H. Peterson of the Arctic Ice Company of this city. Youngsters of the city were busy with nails and knives yesterday afternoon trying to dig out the hat.

Special windows were being displayed by all of the stores in the city today showing the latest in straw hats.

CAPTAIN JOHN SMITH II TO REPEAT CLASSIC ESCAPE

Francis Gow-Smith's Radio Tames Murderous Natives

INTO a tropical jungle of Brazil from which few white men have escaped alive, a modern Captain John Smith is about to venture. He is placing his faith upon modern science to soothe the savage breast, as did Smith, with his magnetic compass, some two hundred years ago. A powerful electric flashlight and a sensitive radio receiving set are the means by which the intrepid American explorer hopes to divert the murderous intentions of the cruel Chervantes Indians, who inhabit the River of Death Region, just south of the Amazon basin.

"There is a legend in Brazil," according to Francis Gow-Smith, who dares to risk his life upon so thin a thread, "that no white man has ever returned from an exploration trip up the Rio das Mortes, and from that fatal connotation the waterway derives its name, the River of Death." The hostile Chervantes Indians, who sink through the heavy tropical foliage of the River of Death territory, acquired their hatred of the white man hundreds of years ago when the Spaniards held them under in iron rule. For years treasure ships of booty, laden with gold and jewels, rewarded the Spanish conquerors. But a well organized revolt of the Chervantes resulted in the death of their last invading Spaniard and to his day they have successfully resisted the advance of civilization.

Few Escape Poison Arrows

A few years ago three hardy Brazilians ventured into the Chervantes territory. Two of them were slain. The third escaped because the Indians thought that his eyes glowed with supernatural powers. They adopted him as a medicine man and gave him a native wife. But these signal honors held him only until the first opportunity to escape offered itself. Another explorer, a German, escaped from the River of Death can-try with the aid of a violin, substituting the old adage, music soothes the savage breast. Another explorer enchanted these murderous natives by means of his binoculars. But these are the only cases of successful penetration of the Chervantes territory.

Francis Gow-Smith was the next to expose himself to the poisoned arrows of the slinking Indians. For five days with a hastily collected crew of timid but friendly Carajas he worked his way up the Rio das Mortes.

Gow-Smith's First Venture

"The scene was an endless paradise of peace and flaming beauty. The banks were walled with forests and draped with the gorgeous colors of flowing vines. Over the silver sheet of the water flashed in a kaleidoscope of amazing color the wings of parrots and strange butterflies. Solemnly on the rocks along the shore stood countless long-billed ibis, flaunting their plumage in pastel shades of red, green, purple and blue. Other fishermen, the graceful jaguars, lay daintily draped on branches over the stream where shoals of fish, feeding on floating petals, were so thick that a swift paw could scoop up a mouthful at will," wrote Smith in a recent issue of World's Work. "All was enchanting peace. Yet I could almost feel the unseen eyes of the Chervantes watching our every move from above the forest roof, revealed that our progress was being reported to natives higher up."

On the sixth day this languid peace was interrupted by the vicious swishing of poisoned arrows. Instantly a babble of hysterical cries from Smith's terrified Carajas. In a moment the canoe was headed down stream in a panic stricken flight. So ended Smith's first expedition.

But the march of civilization is not easily turned back. Smith is once more bound to the darkest corner of the earth. This time he will be equipped to face the poisoned arrows of the natives. Instead of implements of war, his weapons are a number of flashlights and a radio receiving set. By shooting a beam of white light five hundred feet into the well nigh impenetrable jungle he expects to win the respect of the Chervantes Indians. With a power that seems supernatural, he will gather music from the skies in order to divert their attention. Like the famous Captain John Smith of Colonial days, his modern namesake will stake his life upon the effectiveness of science in curbing the natural desire of the savage to practice with the tomahawk and poison arrow upon the susceptible anatomy of the white man.

New Type of Batteries Used

Smith's life depends upon the successful functioning of his radio equipment and his flashlights on his present trip. He will not only paddle up the River of Death but will visit the strongholds of the Chervantes in order to make their acquaintance. Smith has taken with him a goodly stock of reserve flashlight cells and "B" batteries of a size and quality which will give him well over a year's service.

It is interesting to observe that a year ago "B" batteries had not been developed which would give with any degree of certainty a full year's service. New and modern methods of "B" battery construction, however, have so improved the quality and life of "B" batteries that a year's power supply is now assured him. The other elements of a radio receiving set are subject only to mechanical wear. Unless accident occurs, therefore, Smith can call upon radio music to soothe the savage Chervantes should they become moderately inclined.

the issuance of a marriage license or the recordation of a marriage certificate.

Judge Houser's opinion is also to the effect that under the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act, even though no legal ceremony of marriage has been performed between the parties, if by their neighbors and relatives they are recognized as husband and wife, and so conduct themselves one toward the other and before the world, and the wife in good faith believes herself to be the wife of the employee, she will be entitled to compensation in case of the death arising from an injury received by him in the course of his employment.

Care for Child's Health Before Sickness Comes

Most parents have a constant fear that their children may contract some disastrous communicable disease but they take no action in preventing the disease. When the child becomes ill they are willing to pay any price to bring about the child's recovery. The better way is to safeguard health so as to avoid sickness. Every parent were to obtain the benefits of modern health procedure, for their children, many severe cases of communicable diseases could be prevented. Diphtheria, smallpox and typhoid fever can be absolutely prevented and there is no excuse for any individual to contract any of these diseases. Immunization against each and all of these three diseases is available. Taking advantage of these procedures provides positive insurance against contracting any of them.

The campaign for making children about to enter school physically fit for the first grade now being conducted throughout the state, will have much to do with immunization against preventable diseases. Parents who desire to safeguard the health of their children can secure valuable information in the preschool conferences now being held. The Bureau of Child Hygiene of the California State Board of Health is cooperating with local organizations in securing adequate physical examinations of preschool children. The Bureau endorses, without reservation, immunization procedures against smallpox, diphtheria and typhoid fever. Any doctor of medicine can provide these immunizations. Parents who wish to learn more about the subject can secure full information at the conferences now being conducted.

Shattered Love Fails to Break Woman's Faith

OAKLAND, Cal., April 22.—Love still holds its golden glow for Mrs. Dorothy Hamilton Friend, granddaughter of John Spring, San Francisco multimillionaire.

The beautiful young daughter of George Friend, formerly a widely known actor, who has brought suit against her husband, J. Bruce Hamilton, insurance broker, on grounds of cruelty, today declared she still has faith in marriage and romance in spite of a broken engagement, an elopement and now divorce.

Mrs. Hamilton, then a debutante, in 1924 startled society here when she broke her engagement to Alvin R. Thomas, University of California student, and announced she would pursue art studies.

A short time later, while driving with her parents and Hamilton, the young society woman gave society another thrill.

Hamilton and the girl left the automobile for a few moments in Martinez and returned to announce their wedding to the astounded parents.

Now Mrs. Hamilton has sued for divorce, enumerating the following allegations as basis:

That Hamilton brought her "irredeemable" socks to be mended. That he told her she did not put enough pepper into food.

That he did not keep his promise and buy her an engagement ring.

Today she said that she still regards Hamilton highly.

"He is a splendid gentleman, but we were incompatible," she said.

"Those were just little things, those matters mentioned in the suit," she explained, "but when one makes a mistake in choosing a mate, who recourse is left but divorce? I still have faith in marriage. I think it can be very beautiful."

That he did not keep his promise and buy her an engagement ring.

DEMPSEY TO TRAIN FOR "NEXT" BOUT

(By Universal Service)

FOR WORTH, Texas, April 22.—Jack Dempsey is tonight on his way to Asheville, N. C., where he expects to pitch his training camp for thirty days.

Dempsey signed a contract with Tex Rickard yesterday to defend his championship title. It is expected he will meet either Harry Wills or Gene Tunney in the Yankee Stadium, New York, or in the Arena at Boyle's thirty acres, Jersey City, probably September 16.

When Dempsey boarded the Sun shine special at 4:10 this afternoon for Asheville he was enthusiastic. He was informed that his sparring partners and trainers are awaiting his arrival at the little North Carolina town.

Dempsey said he was confident he would meet Tunney in the titular bout and ventured the opinion that he would beat the marine in less than eight rounds. As to the differences which exist between Rickard and the New York boxing commission, the champion said he wasn't interested as he had all the confidence in the world in Rickard's ability to overcome any obstacles which might be placed in the way of a championship bout in New York City.

"What action can the commission take against me?"

Dempsey asked, "I haven't got a New York boxing license."

Rickard left early to-day for Henrietta, Texas, for a few days' visit with boyhood friends. The promoter only grinned when shown dispatches from New York, quoting the boxing commission as being determined to demand an explanation of his actions in signing Dempsey to a contract, presumably for a bout with Gene Tunney, upon his arrival in New York. Rickard will leave here Sunday for New York.

"I have done nothing to rile the commission in signing Dempsey to a contract to defend his title against an opponent to be picked by me sometime in June," Rickard said, "and I don't think I will have any trouble from that body when it becomes acquainted with all of the details."

Wife Lays Down Law to Husband

(By Universal Service)

NEW YORK, April 22.—Peter which was doing the best he could tonight to live up to eight commandments enacted by his wife in court today. Here are the rules he must follow if he keeps her:

You shall not drink.

You shall respect your wife at all times.

Do not teach your children insubordination by interfering when I am correcting them.

Do not bring your pals home when you are all drunk.

Give me your salary each week because I can save out of it what you spend on booze.

Keep yourself tidy and fit for a woman to look at.

Do some repairing around the house and make our home beautiful.

Do not smoke in bed.

When Peter agreed to the rules he had his wife left the court room arm in arm.

claiming he had but one vote on the board and could not hire nor fire teachers unless another member voted with him. He admitted that he had been negligent in posting the quarterly reports, but said that he had never been reprimanded for it and that no clerk had done otherwise in the past. He admitted doing certain work during the vacation without the authority of the school board at regular meeting, but stated that he had told Manuel Moitoza that he was going to do the work as was urgedly accepted. He was substantiated in this statement by Moitoza.

A. J. Ross, in presenting the complaints said that he did so as taxpayer, not a complainant and that the charges were current gossip in San Pablo. He said that he presented them to the board to investigate their truth and for the betterment of conditions at the school and declared that he was anxious to have the San Pablo school cleared of factions and all influences which were detrimental to the progress of the school.

GE TE TI CLUB AT FORD HOME

The Ge-Te-Ti club was entertained at the home of Miss Carol Ford 11 Montana avenue, Wednesday night. A delightful evening was spent playing cards.

Miss Ruth Haney will entertain the club on May 19, at her home, 200 Nevada avenue.

The guests at Wednesday night's meeting included: Misses Ruth Haney, Ruth McMenamin, Morris Lincoln, Bertha Floyd, Mabel Wood, Marjorie Davidson, Lois Wood, Helen Maloney, Valera Davidson, Mrs. Gladys Kruger.

Manuel Moitoza presided at the meeting and with Fred Cartfield heard the charges preferred against the third member, Lawrence Silva. At the conclusion of the testimony during which many phases were discussed by the two factions present, the board decided to refer the matter to Committee Superintendent of Schools W. H. Hanlon for his advice.

The charges were first presented at the regular meeting of the school board last Monday night, but owing to the absence of Silva from the meeting, a special meeting was called for last night in order that his side of the question could be presented.

"Have a Camel"
No cigarette satisfies the taste like a Camel

HAVE a Camel, and let your taste be satisfied! Millions of experienced smokers just wouldn't buy or smoke any cigarettes but Camels.

Camels are so different from other cigarettes. So glorious in flavor and fragrance. Because of their choice tobaccos and perfect blending, Camels are all pleasure, pure golden contentment. Nothing is omitted to make Camel quality the biggest sensation in the history of smoking. Camels give you the utmost in cigarette enjoyment.

Right here you have the reason why Camel makes—and keeps—so many friends: Camels satisfy the taste as no other does. They never tire the taste or leave a cigarette after-taste no matter how freely you smoke them. And what a glowing contentment their goodness brings! Camels are the only cigarettes in the world that have the completely satisfying quality. For your taste's sake, demand them. Their pleasure-bringing goodness is your right. Have a Camel!

Chronic Catarrh Relieved Hearing Restored

Elmhurst, April 2, 1926.
During all my life I had suffered from Catarrh of the ears. For a few months ago it became so bad that my eyes and head ached terribly and I could not hear well in either ear. Although I tried many treatments and doctors, I got no benefit whatever. I was told that I must have an operation for Adenoids and Tonsils. Fortunately, however, instead, I came to the Fong Wan Herb Co. for treatment. After two weeks, all my complaints were gone. I have nowhere else found remedies comparable with the Fong Wan Herbs.

Gall Bladder Troubles Gone!
To Whom It May Concern:
For over a year I had trouble in my gall bladder, pain on my right side, vomiting and a general rundown condition. On February 23rd of this year I had an attack of appendicitis, the pain of which was so severe that I could not sleep at night. I came to see the Chew & Chew herbals and after taking one dose of herbs I was greatly relieved. I continued to take the herbs for a few more weeks and I am all well now. March 14, 1926.

SUMMER WHITE HOUSE OFFERED TO PRESIDENT

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, April 22.—President Coolidge was offered a summer estate at Lenox, Mass., as a summer White House by Howard Cole, wealthy realtor of that city today. The property is "Belvoir Terrace" formerly owned by Morris K. Jessup of New York.

Cole told the President, Belvoir Terrace, in the heart of the beautiful Berkshires is ideal for his requirements. It has spacious grounds offering every advantage of privacy and commanding sweeping vistas of hills and valleys.

Cole pointed out that it is less than 150 miles from Boston and New York, six miles from Pittsfield and less than 50 miles from Albany.

Although the President has received offers of palatial homes from a dozen states, from California to Maine, he has signified no choice thus far. It is believed, however, that he favors a location in the mountains of Vermont, perhaps near Burlington.

DAUGHTER BORN

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Peacock, 2316 Brooks avenue, are the parents of a daughter born Wednesday at the Richmond Maternity hospital.

Many Children Being Examined

More than sixty children have been examined at the Richmond Health Center during the first four days of the pre-school examinations being conducted for the benefit of children entering school for the first time in August or the following January, according to reports received yesterday.

The examinations will be continued during the rest of this week and all of next week, with City Health Officer Dr. C. R. Blake in charge, assisted by a corps of local doctors. It is expected that more than 300 children will have been examined before the examinations end. Parents are urged to bring their children to the Health Center so that they can be assured that their children are physically fit to enter school.

BUILDING PERMITS

Three minor permits were issued by City Building Inspector E. E. Grow.

A permit was issued to James Pedrotti to build an addition to a structure on the south side of Chandler between Seventh and Eighth streets. Tandy and Theis are the contractors. The addition will cost $400.

Jack Chatterton secured a permit to build a garage on his property on the east side of Eleventh between Florida and Ohio avenues. The garage will cost $100 and the owner will do the work.

A permit to build a two-car garage costing $150 was issued to L. W. Montgomery. The owner will be in charge of the work on the garage which will be built on the east side of First street between Bissell and Chandler avenues.

Pretty Little Japanese Girl Adds to Beauty Of Cherry Blossom Time in Washington, D. C., Park

Dainty Seiko Neishio was caught by the cameraman in Potomac park, where the cherry trees are now in full bloom. These trees are things of beauty each spring when they are covered with blossoms and hundreds visit the park to glimpse a touch of old Japan.

D. Bailey, assistant U. S. Attorney, in charge of prohibition enforcement work in Olson's office, commending the Chicago police in glowing terms for their "splendid cooperation" in securing evidence and aiding in the prosecution of the McLean case, "one of the worst phases in the loop."

Mayor Dever had not completed his statement when the committee adjourned until tomorrow. He will be given an hour to finish. He probably will be heckled by dry members of the committee, who today showed a disposition to support Olson's testimony.

For the first time since the hearings began evidence of the paid dry lobby in Washington was brought out by Senator Jim Reed of Missouri after an hour's grilling of the Rev. E. C. Dinwiddie, Superintendent of the National Temperance bureau, with headquarters here.

Dinwiddie proved a reluctant witness and it was necessary for Reed to exert all his arts as a cross-examiner to draw from the witness that he had "made his living for 27 years as a paid lobbyist" in Washington, first with the anti-saloon league and then with his present organization.

The dry reformer finally admitted that he was now drawing a salary of $600 a month or $7,200 a year. He said that he began working for a "pretty small salary"—between $2,800 and $2,900 a year.

Reed pressed the witness hard to get the total amount of funds that had been raised and spent by his organization since its formation, but was unable to get anything but an approximation. Dinwiddie said that he could not "carry the figures in his head."

He admitted, however, that his bureau had been spending between $15,000 and $17,000 a year for the last "couple of years," he promised to furnish complete figures before the hearing adjourned tomorrow.

Dinwiddie fenced successfully with Reed when the Senator strove to put him on record as favoring the legalization of light wine and beer, under strict government supervision rather than the deplorable conditions of increased drunkenness, illicit liquor making and the debauching of youths, to which former witnesses have testified.

J. Pat Murphy, storekeeper and postmaster of Epps, Kentucky, who said that he started selling liquor at the age of eight in a West Virginia "blind-pig," but quit the liquor business and entered the church in 1916, when the state went dry, declared that conditions "were immeasurably better" in Pike county, Ky., and Mingo, Logan and McDowell counties, West Virginia, since prohibition.

The hearings again were marked by frequent clashes between Reed and Senator Harrel of Oklahoma, Chairman of the committee. At one point the Oklahoman accused Reed of "bullragging" Dinwiddie, and Reed retorted:

"I am not bullragging this witness. I am more courteous to this witness than you are to me right now."

At the opening of the hearings, the wets had two and a half hours time left and the drys but one hour and 13 minutes. But the dry members of the committee overruled Reed and gave both sides three hours each in which to close, thus giving the drys nearly two hours more than the wets. Harrel contended that this was "only fair" because Reed had taken up the time of the drys in cross-examination.

Indignant at the insinuation that he was taking sides in the case, Reed shouted:

"I am not on either side."

This drew a shout of laughter from the audience made up largely of drys.

"That may arouse the laughter of fanatics and fools," said Reed in the midst of the uproar. "I have not asked a single question of any witness that was not pertinent to the case. I am in the middle and that may be regarded by a fanatic or a fool to mean that I am on one side."

The long-heralded clash between Reed and Wayne B. Wheeler, Generalissimo of the dry forces, may yet take place as a result of the extension of time given to the drys. Wheeler said earlier that he would merely make a closing statement and not take the stand which would give Reed an opportunity to quiz him on the political and financial activities of the anti-saloon league.

The revelation that dry members of congress, including Representative Upshaw of Georgia, Cranton of Michigan, and Hudson of Michigan, have accepted fees from the dry league for making speeches, is expected to provide a new angle from which the Missourian will prod Wheeler.

MISS WILBUR VISITS

Miss Edith Wilbur, of San Francisco, large property holder in Richmond, was a visitor to this city yesterday.

NAPLES IS NO COMPETITION FOR CALIFORNIA

(By Universal Service)

PARIS, April 22.—"The bay of Naples is beautiful, but our own Golden Gate is equally so. The Monte Carlo gardens are marvelous, but our own Santa Barbara would not lose by comparison."

Thus stated Walter Leimert, of Los Angeles, on his arrival in Paris today after a two months trip through Italy, the Riviera and France. He continued:

"But what old Europe has to teach America, and particularly California is the magnificent way in which all roads are bordered with ornamental trees. Traveling is never tedious, in fact even a three hundred mile journey becomes delightful."

"Some of the high roads, especially the ancient military roads built by the Romans, remade by Napoleon, and carefully kept up by the present generation, are unequalled anywhere in the world. One seems to travel under a tunnel of verdure supported on either side by immense pillars."

"There are trees two hundred years old here which could be grown in our California in one fourth that time. The by-ways are also edged with lovely specimens of picturesque trees. Most of the country is a garden and this in spite of adverse weather conditions and lack of sufficient capital for the upkeep."

"I have seen Naples, Cannes, Monte Carlo and Paris. Most of the museums of Europe and most of the art treasures are celebrated the world over, but none impressed me more than the majestic stateliness of the tree-bordered highways and byways of old Europe."

"It is the only thing we lack in California and I shall make it my business to attract the attention of prominent Californians to the necessity of taking advantage of our great climate for quick measures to beautify our unequal roads. I shall do this just as soon as I return home, about the end of May."

Mr. and Mrs. Leimert are being entertained by friends here and have decided to spend a month in Paris in order to be present at the chief events of the Paris season which is just starting.
